JUDGE SHARSWOOD ON LEGAL TENDERS.

Extract from His Opinion in the Case of Borie vs. Trott.

"On the whole, then, I am of opinion that the provision of the act of Congress of February 25th, 1862, declaring the notes issued in pursuance of that act to be lawful money, and a legal tender, is UNCONSTITUTIONAL

"This renders it unnecessary that I should consider the other question which has been made, as to the effect of the special agreement to pay in lawful silver money of the United States I am in favor of entering judgment for the plaintiff, but as a majority of the court are of a different opinion judgment for the defendant —Copied from the Philadelphia Age of 23d of February, 1864 where the opinion is published in full.

It may also be found in the Legal Intelligencer of March 18, 1864, page 92.

In the same copy of the Age is a carefully prepared eulogy of the Judge and this opinion, in which is the following

"Judge Sharswood reasons upon and decides the case as if he were some lofty spirit sitting far above and out of the contentions and strife of the world"

Will not the holders of greenbacks and Government bonds consider the Judge as quite too elevated and ethereal for such earthly honors as a seat on the Supreme Bench?

Important Letter from Thaddeus Stevens —What Congress Limited to do, and the Consequences of it.

A note from John F Hiestand at Lancaster, Pa, states that Hon Thaddeus Stevens has so far recovered his health that he expects to start in a few days on a tour to the upper Lakes The following important correspondence is published in the Lancaster paper,

COLUMBIA, Aug 24, 1867

Hon Thaddeus Stevens Lancaster Pa

DEAR SIR —Several of your intelligent constituents in this region no doubt from want of proper information are complaining of mistakes made by Congress in not passing laws at the last session restraining the removal of certain officers engaged in reconstruction I contended that you had passed an act at the very close providing for that very contingency but which is not executed Will you be so good as to inform me how far our representative is responsible for this omission, if omission it be You know we are in the habit of dealing familiarly with the member from the Ninth

A brief answer will much oblige you friend,

SAMUEL SHOOK

LANCASTER, Pa, Aug 26, 1867

Col Samuel Shook, Columbia Pa,

DEAR SIR —You are right in supposing that Congress made mistakes, as is the inevitable lot of man, but you mistake in supposing that there is any law to prohibit the removal of the District Commanders, without the consent of the Senate

Soon after the commencement of the last session of Congress, I reported a bill from the Committee of the House of Representatives which contained a provision prohibiting the removal without the consent of the Senate It passed the House, and was sent to the Senate, the Senate struck it out and returned it to the House, who refused to concur in the amendment The result was a committee of conference, where an animated contest ensued There were several other questions in controversy between the House, which the House offered to yield, if this could be granted The Senate perseveringly refused, declaring that they would sooner lose the bill As that would frustrate all our legislation, it could not be allowed The House yielded, with a warning of the evils it would inflict upon the country Some of the members of the Senate seemed to doubt their power under the Constitution which they had just ratified, and which by outside of which all agreed that we were acting, clear our whole work of reconstruction was assumption, or perhaps they had a desire to be thought to be gravely conservative and magnanimous These ideas seemed to control the action of some half a dozen Senators who preferred trusting the President My dear Colonel, a few Senators of great ability, undoubted patriotism and purity, have become so saturated with what they are pleased to call conservatism, (whose meaning I confess I am unable to understand,) that I fear they will forget the monster that was slain in 1776 and again in 1861, and will thus do great damage to the creation of a Government now so capable of being converted into a political paradise This is liable to happen, not so much by a direct and palpable attack upon its frame work as by gradually forgetting the principles of the Declaration of Independence Strike out one of the living sparks that give life to our Goddess of Liberty and the mysterious and intense heat, whose welding and intense fires near a century ago, and at present, are fusing the principles of freedom and reducing despotism to a cinder, will gradually cool until the most conservative despot could thrust his sword into it without effecting its temper

I have said above that I didn't know the meaning of Conservatism I have since seen the report of a speech, said to have been made by an Ohio Senator, at Canton, Ohio, which if it be truly reported, and is to be considered as a definition of that doctrine, then it, to me, is very alarming—worse than Copperheadism. It is legislation without authority and reconstruction is usurpation I am very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
THADDEUS STEVENS.

About Eating Oysters in Summer.

The New York Mercantile Journal says

This whole question came up before the Common Council of New York several years ago, and was discussed during the several days' session, in which a mass of testimony pro and con was taken Oyster experts and medical practitioners were alike examined, the point in question being whether it would be well to prohibit the sale of oysters during the months without the "r" in their names

The upshot of the whole matter was to show that most of the oysters sold here were raised from the Virginia breeds transplanted to our waters, and this transfer disarranged their spawning time, and that the degenerated varieties were actually the plumpest, sweetest, and most wholesome in the very light of summer Thus, the oyster trade carried the day, and from that time to this the summer traffic has held right on with ever increasing prosperity. So much for New York experience

Astounding Credulity—A Gipsy Woman Swindles a Man out of $6,000.

From the Sedalia (Mo) Times.

A A Reeves is a quiet, well to do farmer, living about six miles northwest of this city, on the Georgetown road. By hard word and frugal living, he had acquired the farm upon which he resides and about $1,000 in money Week before last, however, he was victimized in a most incredible manner to the amount of $6,000—an amount which it will perhaps take half the earnings of his lifetime to repay.

On Thursday, August 1st, a company of gipsies, consisting of three men and one woman, encamped near Mr Reeves' house The woman called on Mr R the same day, representing to him that she was a clairvoyant fortune-teller, which enabled her to reveal the past and future of all things whatsoever Furthermore, she informed Mr. R. that she was a spiritualist, and that the spirits had communicated to her the astounding fact that somewhere on his (Mr R's) farm immense quantities of gold and silver had been hidden by some one at a time "whence the memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

The charming woman continued to visit Mr R's house from day to day, and finally informed him that the spirits would not deign to tell where the treasure was deposited, unless she could be temporarily placed in the possession of $6,000 with which to perform the necessary incantation Strange as it may seem, Mr Reeves gave credence to this story—the woman completely intoxicated him, leading him whithersoever she would. He promised her that he would obtain the money, ($6,000,) and each swore the other eternal secrecy Mr R had $865 in his own possession, and he quietly borrowed enough from different members of his family to make up the thousand, without hinting the purpose for which he wanted it He then came to Sedalia, and mortgaged his farm to Mr Reeve Hughes, to the amount of $5,000, payable in ninety days, at two and a half per cent. a month He thereupon returned home, without informing any member of his family what his mission had been to Sedalia, stealthily met his enchantress and told her that he was ready for the incantation The woman took the money, made a roll of it and then proceeded to wrap it up securely in a piece of cotton cloth, and, as if to make assurance doubly sure, she then took a long string and tied it many times around the roll of money She returned the next day, when the final ceremonies took place which were inevitably to extort a revelation from the spirits as to the exact locality where the treasure was to be found She took Mr. Reeves into a room where there could be no witnesses of the mysterious conjurations, had him to stand in the centre of the floor, and with uplifted hands repeat the Lord's prayer, while she, in possession of the package of money performed evolutions round about him, mysteriously chanting during the time This performance concluded, the woman placed what was so tenaciously the package of money in one of Mr R's hands, and charged him, at the peril of destroying the spell, not to let the package go out of that particular hand until he had hidden it in some safe and secret place, where, undisturbed, it was to remain for the period of four days, when Mr R was to go and get it, and meet his enchantress at a spring near by, when the two in company would proceed to the place where the hidden treasure was buried Mr Reeves obeyed these injunctions strictly, telling no one of any part of the transaction, hid what he supposed was his package of $6,000 safely away, and at the exact moment, when the four days had expired, sought his package and found it, but, alas! instead of containing the $6,000, it only contained the disconnected fragments of one of Beadle's dime novels Our readers can imagine Mr R's feelings of disappointment, indignation and chagrin at this stage of the proceedings He sought his charmer at the spring but she was no where visible The gipsies had

"Folded their tents like Arabs
And silently stole away"

The Gold Fields of Nevada.

The condition of the mining interests in Nevada is such as to warrant the conclusion that that State will yet rank among the foremost gold producing countries of the world The shipments of the precious metal for the last few years have been steadily increasing, and show, not only that a healthy state of activity exists, but that the work is conducted on a sound and sure basis The aggregate product last year was $16,171,931 During the first six months of the present year it has amounted to $9,341,949, being an increase of $2,078,791 over the amount produced in the corresponding period of 1866 It is estimated, with good reason, that the total gold crop for the year of that section will not fall far short of 20,000,000 So steady have been the returns for several years past that it is safe to calculate upon an annual increase of from three to four millions of specie for some time to come Still the mining operations in that section are in reality but just began The State abounds with rich lodes and offers an almost unlimited field for capital and labor Great improvements have of late been made both in opening of new mines and the equipment of the old ones with new and improved machinery, and yet the richest portion of the mining region has not been open to industry on account of its remoteness and the absence of easy communication This drawback will, however, soon be removed by the Pacific Railroad and the increased facilities then afforded will be felt in a large and rich territory hitherto undeveloped

Gold mining has had of late the benefit of vast knowledge and experience, and the consequence has been that it has worn out a great many prejudices against it and settled down to a steady and legitimate pursuit The extravagant notions which sprung up from the wild and fascinating tales of the California Eldorado have been gradually removed by the experience of Pike's Peak and the many heavy losses elsewhere which have resulted from ignorance and speculation People have come to know that gold mining cannot be successfully carried on without adequate machinery and an abundance of capital As a result of this progress, so far as regards the production of gold, may be more slow, but a gradual and sure increase will follow, as in the case of Nevada.

The Decay of the Cherokees.

From the Montanian we gather the following interesting items about the Cherokee Indians

The tribe numbers 14,000 The females out number the males more than 1,800 Ten years ago the tribe numbered 25,000, but the ravages of war, the exposure of the refugees in northern climates where they were driven out from their homes during the rebellion, and other causes, have operated to produce this wonderful diminution of numbers. The Cherokees now own in fee simple about 4,000,000 acres of land, and the United States Government holds in trust for them $1,000,000 The Cherokees are the most enlightened tribe of Indians in the West. They have made most commendable progress in civilization Many of them are finely educated, and are men of culture and refinement Before the war they had a number of good schools and academies, and the children of the more intelligent and wealthy were educated in Eastern colleges They have a legislative form of government, with a Senate and House of Assembly, a Governor and head chief, elected by the people courts and justice officers Their country is divided into different counties They hold slaves, but in our Western provincialism that is played out They former slaves are now treated with consideration and respect, and will soon become the principal men of the tribe, as they are industrious, and seem to have a greater desire to accumulate property than the native Indians In proportion to their numbers the Cherokees, previous to the war, were the richest people on the face of the globe They owned immense herds of cattle, horses and hogs Large shipments of cattle were annually made by them to New Orleans and other markets One man owned 30,000 head of cattle, another 15,000 There were many that owned 10,000, 8,000 2,000, 1,000 and 500 head of cattle each.

The London Lancet mentions a curious instance of deception under operation A woman, having fractured her leg, was conveyed to a hospital, where amputation was pronounced to be necessary This was performed under chloroform but as she was of a timid and nervous temperament, she was kept for forty days in ignorance of the fact that she had lost her limb

The Army and Navy Journal shrewdly says the President is justifiable in putting down General Sheridan, since Sheridan, had it been lawful, would most certainly have treated Mr Johnson as he did Wells and Throckmorton—removed him as "an impediment to reconstruction"

BUSHNEARD'S STATION, BUTLER COUNTY, OHIO, Aug. 31.

Rufus Hunter, of New Orleans, was selected as referee, Dodd Ryan and Jack Looney, both of St Louis, as umpires The referee made the time speech, saying I have been chosen by the unanimous consent of both parties, referee for this fight, and I intend to see that the best man wins J A McCulloch was appointed time keeper After a tedious watch, during which ice bottles and sponges, &c, were brought into the ring, Aaron Jones at last appeared amid great cheering and threw his hat into the ring, and stepped after with a light step, but seemed anxious He was dressed neatly in a dark coat, light pants and a white cravat By this time the sun flowed on every place in the ring, so that there was but little choice of corner Aaron took seat in one corner awaiting his antagonist, while one of his backers held an umbrella over him to shield him from the now fervent rays of the sun He won the choice of corners, and took the one presenting his right shoulder to the sun Four minutes afterward McCoole sent his slouch hat suddenly into the ring He looked just as anxious as Jones, with whom, on entering the ring, he shook hands in a rather embarrassed manner McCoole had on heavy winter clothing, well but toned up He took his station in the opposite corner, and was shielded by an umbrella Jones' hands were stained a deep shout, but McCoole's were not At the latter's request Jones sucked his knuckles to show that no poisonous drugs had been used in dying them After eyeing each other and the crowd for five minutes, the seconds commenced disrobing their men McCoole's hands and arms were both considerably larger than Jones', in fact, he is much larger all over—legs, arms, chest and shoulders McCoole's costume was blue drawers, hemmed with green, and white stockings Jones' was white drawers and hose. McCoole wore as his colors a sash of red, green and white, and Jones a sash of white silk On removing his shirt Mike McCoole's gigantic proportions were revolved He approached Jones with $1,000 for a bet, which was accepted Jones then advanced and offered to bet $1,000 that he would knock him down first McCoole said he had no more money Jones then offered it to the crowd, but no one accepted The fighting commenced at 10 15 a m The following is a summary of the rounds

1 Round Began sparring first knock down and blood for McCoole

2 Heavy exchanges, Jones thrown

3 Very heavy fighting, Jones badly hurt under the right eye, severe exchanges, Jones down

4 Jones knocked down by a heavy body blow

5 Heavy exchanges, Jones got in several terrible blows, but is again knocked down fighting, sharp and quick

6 The men come to the scratch at once and go to work instantly, very heavy blows Jones knocked down again The fight is over, McCoole the victor

7 Sparring, both men faint, with smashing faces men close Jones knocked down again by a rib roaster"

8 Jones sent down by a terrible blow

9 Jones evidently hurt, Jones knocked over the ropes by a comparatively light blow

10 Jones knocked down, after planting one good blow on McCoole's face The men were lighting now only five minutes

11 Jones suffering greatly; McCoole tries to force the fighting, and sends Jones down again

12 Jones got a crack on the nose and went down for the twelfth time

13 Terrible blows on both sides, McCoole's face terribly bloody, but Jones finally went down

14 Jones smiling, McCoole, however the fresher, a few exchanges and Jones Went down

15 Jones fell without being struck great confusion but McCoole did not want to claim foul

16 Jones went down on his knees after a slight blow, and looked smilingly at McCoole

18 Jones knocked down outright, Jones seems to have been whipped after the first round,

19 Little fighting and Jones down, several blessing, Jones simply comes up to be knocked down

20 The same old story, Jones knocked down almost without resistance, the faces of both men greatly battered

22 Jones sent to grass by a sound lick in the side

2 McCoole's eyes greatly hurt, Jones down after an exchange of blows, McCoole's left eye nearly closed

24 Heavy exchanges, Jones down

25 Jones rushes in, but McCoole sends him down with heavy blows, men fighting now only fourteen minutes.

26 Jones went down after planting a light stroke with a terrible blow on the breast

27 Jones got in a hot one on the eye, sparring, McCoole sends Jones over the ropes

28 Both men come up promptly Jones falls with light blow on chest

29 Fighting now twenty minutes Jones gets another light one on McCoole's eye, but is knocked through the ropes again by a body blow

30 Jones falls after a few trifling blows again

31 Jones greatly distressed and a little groggy, light exchanges and Jones down as usual

32 Jones' body greatly discolored McCoole's face cut up, but he seems fresh, Jones sent down again It is seven minutes past eleven

33 Jone hits McCoole on side and falls back himself, McCoole goes to his corner smiling

34 McCoole hits a fearful blow, over Jones' left eye, cutting a fearful gash This settled the fight Jones failed to come to time, and amid tumultuous cheering the crowd closed on McCoole Jones was almost insensible, leaning on his seconds and bleeding a stream from his wounded eye

Time of the fight 35 minutes

The fearful blow Jones received in the first round settled the whole affair Jones had not the slightest chance McCoole's punishment was comparatively light Jones was fearfully overmatched Fifteen minutes after the fight ended Jones laid still on the field, later while McCoole walked off with a fresh step and smiling face It is reported that two of Jones' ribs are broken

CINCINNATI, August 31

McCoole won the fight in thirty four rounds, knocking Jones out of time.

LOCAL NOTICES.

It is said that shares of the Washington Library Company of Philadelphia are being disposed of with unexampled rapidity The absence of all concealment, the honesty of purpose manifested by those who first inaugurated the enterprise, the fairness with which the proposed final distribution is to be conducted, and the patriotic purpose to which the entire surplus is to be applied, have taken firm hold on the public confidence So large have the sales been thus far that the trustees hope to anticipate the time originally fixed for the dispensation of the gifts, amounting to $300 000, thus placing the funds collected much sooner than they expected in a channel to carry out this noble act of benevolence which was the object of their enterprise All those, therefore, who desire to participate with them in the pleasure of doing a good [illegible] without delay They will receive at once a fine engraving worth at retail more than the money invested, besides a gift of such value as their share may be entitled to in the final distribution Read the advertisement d&wtf

The American Cooking Stove.

After twenty years Experience in the manufacture of stoves we became convinced, some six years since, that a vast amount of money was being expended by the people of this country, in buying cheap and almost worthless stoves, a large portion of which was wasted, and that true economy consists in buying the best stoves that could be made, notwithstanding the price was higher With this view we proceeded to construct the American Cooking Stove, and spared no pains or expense to make it the best and most perfect stove that could be made And we have experimented with it, and carefully watched its operation for the last six years and when an improvement suggested itself we have at once adopted it, and we have several of these improvements secured by letters patent In this manner we do not hesitate to say, we have brought it to a higher state of perfection than has heretofore been attained in cooking stoves The recent improvements in this stove has added largely to its convenience and of efficiency In all the varieties of stoves we manufacture, we study usefulness, durability, convenience and economy in operation, rather than cheapness in price, and in so doing we are satisfied we study the interests of those purchasing our stoves

—The Crawford County Agricultural Society will hold their fair at Conneautville on the 2d 3d and 4th of October

—A through passenger train is to be put on the Farmers' Road to day running from Petroleum Centre to Irvineton

—The Union School re opens to day, after a two months' vacation The school hours will be from 9 to 12 a m and from 1 30 to 4 p m

—The Union Base Ball Club have accepted a challenge to play a match game with the Senecas of Oil City

—The annual fair of the Crawford County Central Agricultural Society will be held on the 24th 25th and 26th of September

—The regular monthly meeting of Protection Engine Company will be held this, Monday evening, at eight o clock A punctual attendance of all members is requested

—It is stated that Colonel Gibbs, rebel commander at Andersonville during the rebellion is now at Tidioute acting as superintendent of a Petroleum Company

—A lodge of Good Templars with thirty nine charter members has been organized at Tidioute Mr E A Stevens, editor of the Journal was elected W C T

—Rev R D Nevins Rector of Christ Church in Oil City, was married in Baltimore, and returned to his pastoral charge last week The ladies of his congregation rented and furnished a house for his reception

—During the present season Mr Thomas R Cuskadon, of Meadville Town hip raised on four acres a crop of 338 bushels of oats The land measured exactly four acres This is a wonderful yield, and we very much doubt if it can be beaten in the State

—The Democrats of Dauphin county refused to endorse Andrew Curtin at their recent Convention This is since Andy was elected a member of a base ball club He is getting some terrible battle from his old friends

—Bobby Geddings who was arrested for stabbing Conductor Dunn on the train while in the Driving Park at Erie was brought before Justice Baldwin on Saturday morning and after having waived an examination was committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury He will be sent to Meadville to day

—The Meadville Republican states that the "oil regions appear to be infested with highway robbers" Appearances in this case are very deceitful A first class highwayman would starve to death anywhere between Corry and Oleopolis There never was a time when outlaws had so much encouragement on the one hand and such individual opportunity for reformation on the other

—We know that when our Democratic friends met at Coffee Run Saturday a name to select delegates to their county Convention they found a little difficult men present playing a game of euchre to decide their respective claims This so disgusted the remainder that they adjourned the meeting to the next evening, leaving the card players out in the cold so that both got "euchered" on the nomination

—The Republican County Convention of Lancaster met last week, and by a vote of one hundred and forty two to sixty four authorized the appointment of a Committee to prepare a plan by which the "Crawford County System" of nominating candidates will be enforced to nominate a ticket to be supported on the 3d Tuesday of October, the said nomination to be made Saturday, September 14

—Richard Broadrick, who has been confined for some weeks in the Venango county jail on a charge of abstracting a lot of well tubing on Oil Creek, was discharged by the Court on Wednesday last, the Grand Jury having failed to find a true bill against him During his incarceration Mr B put in his time by writing "machine poetry" for the Franklin Spectator Fortunately that is not an indictable offence, and escaped the attention of the Jury

A Worthy Candidate.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the Pittsburgh Post, the only Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania, the day following his nomination It said

The nomination of the Hon Henry W Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one He was the best man before the Republican Convention, and possesses the legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position for which he has been nominated Both parties have now presented their candidates An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions The campaign may now be conducted without personal aspersion, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest men and conscientious legislators

A Visit to Plymouth Rock.

Editorial Correspondence

August 25, 1867

"Westward the star of Empire takes its way," and now it glitters on the silver waves that wash our Pacific coast, but a little more than two centuries since, it stood over Plymouth Rock, the bright omen of the rising glories of the American Republic I have made a pilgrimage to Forefathers' Rock, and as the early Christians in their visit to the Holy Sepulchre, used to bring away for a sacred memorial a branch of the palm from the land of Jericho, so I have become the possessor of a genuine piece of the veritable rock which was first pressed by the feet of the Pilgrims It is a wonder there is a grain left of what has been fiercely called out "National Library stone," but the remnant of the old boulder is now protected in its original position from even patriotic depredation It was after miles of travel in a chase along a level sandy road that I drove into the streets of Plymouth The ingredients of low pine woods were frequent along the route, but cultivated farms and houses few, and I could well understand how if this soil was a specimen while Massachusetts supports a denser population in proportion to her superficial extent than any other State, she should have only half of her area under agricultural improvement I could also see a very good reason for calling her the old "Bay State," for her coast could scarcely be more irregular and indented than it is Massachusetts Bay may be called the upper part of Cape Cod Bay, and vice versa, and Plymouth Bay where the Pilgrims landed is an inlet of Cape Cod Bay, and from the hills which overhang the shore or wharves you may discern miles away across the waters the headlands and the Cape Plymouth is a thoroughly modern town and I saw no antiquated buildings, and nothing to notch the centuries that have rolled over the heads of its inhabitants It is a pretty well shaded, compact town not behind the age in improvements and that as any of its neighbors from its factories and mills and factories of various kinds Many of its citizens bear the names and inherit the blood of the early settlers but the principles professed by the Pilgrims are the property of the nation After going down to the shore and standing on the rock, which is now fronted by wharves and piers and storehouses, you ascend Cole's Hill directly in the rear of memorable spot this elevation tradition informs us was the first burial ground of the Pilgrims one half of the original band it will be remembered having perished within six months of their debarkation No tomb stones mark the place where the ashes of Rose Standish Gov Carver or any of that goodly company repose nor did the survivors ever raise mounds over their graves wishing to hide from their savage foe the knowledge of the feebleness of their numbers and the inroads which pestilence had made in their ranks Pilgrim Hall attracts every visitor as the repository of what scanty relics and memorials remain of that band of Christian adventurers This edifice is a granite structure, with Doric columns In the front yard is a large piece of the identical Pilgrim Rock, enclosed by an iron railing, on which are plates and scrolls, inscribed with the names of the signers of the social compact adopted on board the May Flower One may begile several hours in a curious examination of the various objects of interest in Pilgrim Hall A prominent feature is the celebrated historical painting by Sargent, representing the Landing of the Fathers in 1620 The scene is impressive and the figures remarkably natural in their attitudes, and arrayed in costumes appropriate to their times and their several characters The redoubtable Captain Standish seems to press boldly forward that he may better scan the features and divine the purposes of the Indian Sagamore, who seems to be holding a pantomimic colloquy with Carver, Bradford, Winslow, and Brewster, while the women of the party cling instinctively to the arms of their protectors, and the children draw back with timid looks The walls are also hung with portraits of the early Governors quite faded in color, and showing a fashion of dress of a bygone age Among the antiquities, worthy of note is a pewter dish, an iron pot, a pair of steel yards, all of which came over in the May Flower, also an ingenious piece of embroidery by Capt Standish's daughter, the Captain's sword, and the gun barrel with which King Phillip was killed But it would take pages to enumerate all the relics John Hancock's clock still "keeps time" there and the chairs which Adams and Franklin once occupied, are preserved in the collection I was a good deal interested in examining the early records of the Colony in the Register's office Though now bound in volumes, the original manuscripts are a good deal defaced with age the style of penmanship is quite primitive and the orthography is such as would hardly be authorized by modern lexicographers, but the form and substance of the instruments of conveyance and the mode of legal authentication have undergone little change with time It must have been a rare accomplishment to know how to write in those days, and I should judge that paper was a scarce article, as the General Court of Plymouth, when they altered or repealed a law, used to make erasures and interlineations in the old one instead of writing original acts I have said there were few traces to be seen of the presence of the Pilgrims here I meant of course the material signs of their labors, for if we give them all the credit which history awards them, no men on earth ever accomplished so sublime a work For founding our Republican institutions on the basis of civil and religious liberty made the whole world their debtors A Free Church and a Free State this was their work—their monument, more enduring than brass or marble. The principles laid down in their compact now underlie and pervade our whole system of Government, they are embodied in the Constitutions of all the States of the Union, just as the granite of the Quincy Hills may be found strengthening and adorning the capital architecture of our family of States, from Maine to Texas Had no such men of high, stern, inflexible Christian principle been found at the epoch when colonization commenced men ready to relinquish ease sacrifice fortune, and brave every peril and privation rather than surrender their convictions of duty, and belie their sense of right, American Liberty, as we enjoy it to-day, might never have been born The Greeks, in their colonial establishments, sought an extension of their trade, the Romans, in their conquests, political dominion, the Spaniards were lured to America by a thirst for gold, the Puritans, on the other hand, sought to found a State without a King, and a Church without a Bishop. They had first fled from the minions of the Stuarts to the hospitable shores of Holland, and for eleven years they were witnesses to the Protestant if not Republican faith, to monarchial and Catholic Europe, but the virgin soil of a new continent was destined to be the chosen receptacle for the fruitful seed of civil and religious liberty Coming from the ranks of the common people, most of the immigrants were masters of useful trades and handicrafts, and it is a notable fact that Edward Winslow, afterwards Governor Winslow, was a printer from London It was this equality of condition, in respect to property, which no doubt was the most potent and effectual cause which led to an equal division of lands They broke away forever from the rooted oppressions and hoary inequalities of the feudal system, on the soil of New England there were no lands yielding rent, and tenants rendering service, the estates were freehold, the alienation of land was promoted by rendering it liable to sale for debt, and this, with the abolition of primogeniture which followed, constituted another enduring corner stone of the fair fabric of Democratic government about to be established. It is well for us that the throne and Parliament of England continued to play the tyrant, the Order in Council and the Stamp Act only hastened the catastrophe and sped the hour which proclaimed us "free and independent" Our idea of a Pilgrim is of one with staff and scrip, without a country, carrying a heavy burden, sorrowful yet journeying with unhalting step and undaunted mien towards the Celestial City, whose walls he sees with the eye of faith, and when we read of what our Forefathers dared and suffered, what they gave up and what they went through "for conscience sake" we own the title of Pilgrims was not misapplied to them. But it is no longer a term of pity and reproach but of joyful praise and everlasting honor H G B

—A new well was struck last week on lease No 44 of the Foster Farm, Pioneer Run It is now producing about 35 barrels per day The working interest is owned by the Emory Brothers

—A new well was struck at Pithole on Tuesday last, and on Saturday it was reported to be producing at the rate of about 10 barrels per day

—Fisher Brothers, of Oil City are about to put down several wells on a lease of the Economite tract near Tidioute

—Two new wells were struck on the Triumph tract, near Tidioute, last week They are producing together about 100 barrels per day

THE CONNEAUTVILLE FIRE—The following are principal losses by the fire in Conneautville, which occurred on Wednesday last

W. H Robinson Jr, grocery, lost $4 000 insured for $2 000 The building was owned by A P Foster, and insured in the Crawford Mutual for $4 000

Mr Ross lost his stock of groceries No insurance

N Weissenburger lost a large stock of boots shoes and millinery goods Loss estimated at $6 000. Insurance $3 200

M Stillwell, grocer, lost about $1,700 Insured for $1,300

I Oliman & Co, dealers in clothing, lost building and goods Loss $15,000 Insured for $13 000

J C Teasdale, dealer in watches and jewelry, saved nearly all of his stock

Ticknor & Co saved their stock of flour and feed Insurance $800

N Truesdale, druggist, estimates his loss in dwelling and store at $14,000. No insurance

G C Schofield lost heavily. He was insured for $1 500 In addition to his household effects, he lost a considerable amount of money which he had in his sleeping room

S D Nevillor lost his shop and building Loss not estimated

C W Gittenlemeit market met with slight loss

C & S Rushmore, grocers and provision dealers lost a portion of their stock They were fully insured

Messrs Woolring, Crozier Richardson and Rair and Mrs Adams, were all losers to a considerable extent

The Presbyterian Church, situated some distance from the burning block, caught fire from sparks carried by the wind, and in a short time was reduced to ashes Loss about $4,000 No insurance

It was only by almost superhuman efforts that the fire was prevented from destroying all the best portion of the town Many dwellings and business buildings were repeatedly on fire, but the constant vigilance of the citizens saved them The Courtright Block, built of brick, was a wall on the north against the progress of the flames, and was so seriously endangered at times that the occupants removed their goods The Record office was cleared out with the expectation that the block would be destroyed, but fortunately it was not harmed.

It is confidently believed that the fire was the work of incendiaries, and there are several circumstances going to strengthen this opinion Some half dozen arrests were made of persons caught in the act of stealing goods, and it is known that several suspicious characters disappeared with large packages of costly goods The aggregate loss by the fire is about $60,000, of which there was insurance to the amount of $23,400 The facilities for putting out fires is very limited, only one small hand engine being in the place The citizens worked with commendable energy to stay the flames and save property, and it is almost miraculous that the town was not swept from one end to the other

AMBROSE HAIR, charged with desertion, offered to vote, in 1866, at the election held in the borough of Berwick, Adams county. The officers of the election rejected his vote on the ground that he was a deserter from the United States army He thereupon instituted a prosecution against Henry Stevens, Judge, and Jacob Harmon an Inspector of the election, in the court of Adams county A law was passed at the last session of the Legislature, changing the venue in this case to Dauphin county. The case was called up for trial week, and the prosecutor refusing to appear the defendants were acquitted, and the prosecutor, Ambrose Hair, ordered to pay the costs of the suit

When flowers and buds and shining leaves
Have changed to piles of gold for it,
And heavy laden harvest sheaves.

AMES' HARDWARE STORE.—We take particular pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of F W Ames, occupying the whole of the second column of the first page of to-day's paper Among the men who have always identified themselves with the general interests of Titusville, contributing largely of means and personal attention to advance its prosperity and contribute to its welfare, the name of Mr F W Ames stands prominent In his more private pursuits he has always held an important place Among the many with whom we have had business intercourse during the two years or more that the Herald has had an existence, there are none who have exhibited so steady an interest in our success or whom in business matters we remember with more satisfaction.

A few months since Mr Ames became successor to F H Eddy & Co a firm of which he had always been the constant and has since continued the business at the same place, the large brick store on Diamond street The store is one of the largest and best arranged in this part of the State built expressly for the hardware and iron trade by the King Brothers who carried on an extensive business in the same location till they sold out building and stock to Mr Ames in 1865. Since the dissolution of the firm of F H Eddy & Co, the general management of the store and the details of the business have been almost exclusively in the hands of Mr P H Smith, a gentleman, of whom we hazard nothing in saying, is one of the best business men in the city He is ably assisted by Ernest Smith and William Eddy, young men of the right stamp, courteous, prompt and upright in all their dealings with customers We are glad to learn that the business of the house for the past few months has been very large, in fact far better than in 1866

It will be unnecessary to particularize in regard to the hardware business as there carried on The stock is always kept well up with the demands of the public, and embraces about every thing included in this line of merchandise together with the specialties belonging to the oil mining and producing interest Heavy, and shelf hardware, round and bar iron and steel, wrought and cut nails, horse shoes and nails, pistols, shot guns and rifles cordage all kinds leather and rubber belting, tubing, casing and other well material, wood work for wagons, buggies and carriages, coopers' and carpenters' tools of the best brands, farming utensils, sheet iron, tin, copper and brass can be found in good assortment In the stove trade, the "Oriental" for heating and the "Stewart," and "Iron Gate" for cooking are kept in large quantities and rank upon as best meeting the wants of customers (Wash Boilers and Blacker?)

In manufacturing blacksmiths' bellows, and all kinds of tin work, sheet iron, copper or brass work great facilities are enjoyed, and an immense stock of manufactured goods in this line kept on hand for the wholesale and retail trade The necessity of every household, a clothes wringer, is supplied in offering the well known "Universal," Johnson & Browning's patent, a variety that has stood the test for years and is still at the head of the list

Ames' hardware store is a success, its business large and increasing Judicious and liberal advertising of a large and well assorted stock, offered to customers by courteous and well informed salesmen, with every transaction square and honest makes this, and will make any business a success

"GOOD STORIES"—Messrs Ticknor & Fields have issued the initial number of "Good Stories," under which title they propose to publish, in cheap and attractive form, a valuable collection of short stories, tales, and sketches The need of such a collection has long been felt, for while numerous collections of poetry have been made, no general repertory of good stories exists It is not intended to limit this collection to English literature It will embrace, by competent translations, the best and most characteristic short stories of all languages While having in view the idea of making this collection valuable as a repertory of choice fiction the publishers have in mind the great need of the traveling public for a class of reading that shall answer for amusement in the rail car or on the steamboat A large volume or a long story often becomes wearisome to the traveler on account of the disadvantages to which he is subjected, while the type of many volumes renders the reading of them impossible to not a few travelers in "Good Stories" all of these difficulties are overcome Each number is a small quarto, appropriately illustrated, and easy to the hand, the stories are choice, and demand not too continuous attention, the type is large and can be easily read, and the price, fifty cents per number, will place "Good Stories" within the reach of all Ticknor & Fields, publishers, Boston

DELEGATES TO THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION The meeting of the Democracy of Titusville, which was to have been held at City Hall on Saturday evening last, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Democratic County Convention, was adjourned to places in the various wards, in consequence of a slim attendance The following delegates were appointed First Ward, John S Tracy, Henry Hinkly, Second Ward, S S Fertig, L W Wilcox Third Ward, J B D Clark Aaron Strausberger, Fourth Ward, Joseph Stettheimer A V Goetchius The delegates were empowered to appoint substitutes

"THE ADVANCE."—This is the name of the new religious journal published at Chicago It is issued in quarto form, similar in style and appearance to the New York Independent, and is intended to be the especial exponent of the Congregational and religious sentiment of the West Among the articles in the first number, which will attract attention, are a leading editorial by Rev. Dr J. P. Thompson, of New York, the power of Congress to regulate suffrage in the States, by Senator Trumbull, and a sermon on the second page, by Dr Horace Bushnell The Advance will doubtless make and fill a worthy place in religious literature

PRESERVING FRUIT WITHOUT SUGAR—For some are kept from preserving fruit for winter use because of the high price of sugar The following recipe will be of use to such Put the fruit up in bottles, fill them up with cold spring or well water, tie down with bladder tightly, put them in a kettle or copper of cold water up to the neck of the bottles, with hay packed around them to steady them, let them simmer for a quarter of an hour but not boil, let them cool in the water, wipe the bottles and put them in a dry place On no account open them until their contents are wanted for use

Louis Napoleon is individually in debt some six millions of francs.

Denmark has renewed its demand on Prussia in regard to the northern provinces of Schleswig.

The New York Gazette says somebody "is as handsome as he is able." That is true of most men, only some are not able to be as handsome as others.

Somebody has fooled a reporter of the New York Herald. The little the belief that omibus horses are fed four times a day. The cabman's tales to Mr. Pickwick were nothing to this.

The New Orleans Crescent says: "It seems that the crops of Louisiana are in a worse plight than any other Southern State; that Texas is next on the roll of misfortune; but there is by no means a very bad prospect in Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama or Georgia."

A gentleman of Keokuck, Iowa, being quite thirsty, stepped into a retail grocery at the upper end of the city, and seeing a can containing what he supposed to be water, drank a cupful of its contents to quench his thirst. The beverage which he drank with so much haste proved to be coal oil. The poor fellow was taken sick instantly—but was better at last accounts.

The grasshoppers have appeared in Colorado, and are doing great damage to the crops. They are traveling northwest.

Ex-rebel Postmaster General Reagan, of Texas, has received his pardon and made his little speech upon the dangers of "negro supremacy."

The clouds which deck the western sky at the close of day are beyond the art of poet's pen or artist's pencil, but we should pity the enthusiastic sergeant, who, hoping to find a firm foothold, should leap from his car into the glorified fog-bank.

An editor in Marshall, Illinois, has become so hollow from depending upon the printing business alone for bread that he proposes to sell himself for a stovepipe, at three cents a foot.

Mrs. Easley, of Hector, New York, after indulging in her favorite smoke on Friday, put the pipe in her pocket. In a few minutes her clothes were ablaze, and she was burned to death.

Theodore R. Clark, formerly an actor at Niblo's Theatre, fell through the hatchway of the steamer Trenton, while on an excursion on Long Island Sound, Tuesday, and received injuries which shortly afterwards resulted in his death.

Bogus diplomas from medical colleges in this country are sold in England. There are some English medical men in London who believe that the diplomas are genuine, and were sold in order to raise money.

An afflicted editor, who is troubled with hand organs under the window, longs for the "evil days" mentioned in Ecclesiastics, when "the grinders shall cease because they are few," and "the sound of the grinding shall be low."

It is said that there are in Iowa nearly two hundred lodges of "secret, oath-bound order, whose nominal object is "liberty and brotherhood," but whose real and primary design is the abrogation of all laws interfering with the traffic in intoxicating drinks."

Washington Territory boasts of two magnificent waterfalls—one on the Palouse river, about fifty miles from Walla-Walla, estimated at one hundred and ninety feet high; and the other on Snoqualmie river, and at least one hundred feet higher than the Palouse fall.

M. Pelletan, in a speech to the Corps Legislatif in relation to the management of popular libraries and in defence of modern novels, said: "Above all would I insist on the value of a certain romance, which has wrought a great revolution of our epoch, namely, the emancipation of slavery, for nobody ignores the truth that the Presidency of Lincoln was the result of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin!'"

From eighty to one hundred car loads of peaches pass over the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad every evening, having been loaded along the line of the Delaware Railroad. Each car holds 800 baskets, or 400 boxes, thus making an average of 64,000 baskets daily, which reach New York and Philadelphia by that route alone.

A novel grading machine is at work on the Fox River, Illinois Railroad. It consists of a plough with apron gearing for carrying the earth up and depositing it in the center of the road-bed. It is worked by four horses and two men, and will do the work of thirty men in grading. The work of this road is progressing very rapidly and the cars will soon run to Vermilion.

A recent writer says: "To be able to collect valuable information, and to possess good common sense, is the whole mystery of journalism; and it obviously involves the co-operation of capital on one hand, and intellect in various forms on the other."

Heretofore we have in our circulars alluded to a series of experiments being made with Nitro Glycerine and other explosives. We now announce that we have succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine expectations, as regards the safety of handling, also the unprecedented force and power manifested by a skillful combination whereby the size of the Torpedo is lessened and the force many times multiplied and are now prepared to operate on wells with any of the above named explosives—either with our improved combination or our old Combination Torpedo, which has a record of utility too well known to need mention here.

8-lb. Nitro Glycerine, equal to 64 lbs. powder.....$150
